

Technical Illustrations

Better than a photo

Sometimes a photo doesn't quite do the job. A cut-away has to be made to tell the whole story, or the actual product doesn't photograph well because of cosmetics or the setting it resides in. We do whatever it takes to make the best presentation of your product whether it's clearing away distractions in an application setting, providing an x-ray view of selling features, or simply adding detail and sharpness.

